HONOR

By THOMAS A. CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

There is apparently in the minds of many people a peculiar significance in being put upon one's honor, whatever that may mean, and a peculiar freedom from responsibility when not upon honor. An act may be recognized as objectionable or even as actually evil, but many people feel no compunctions of conscience in committing it unless they are upon their honor. Then they would lose a leg rather than offend.

I remember not long ago having a conversation with a young fellow with reference to certain immoral things of which he had been guilty. He agreed with me ultimately that if the past could be forgotten he would not in the future again offend. It was not long, however, until I discovered that he had broken his agreement.

"Did you not promise me," I asked, "that you would not do this thing again?"

"Why, I believe I did," was his reply, "but I did not promise upon my honor."

A few years ago a boy came to my office and asked me to lend him thirty-five dollars. He was playing in hard luck, he was out of work, and if he could borrow the sum of money for which he asked he could get to a distant city and find a job. He would pay the money back in three months, he said, let him have it, and not hearing from him for a year or two, I wrote him.

"I was not of age when I borrowed the money of you," he finally replied to my letter, "and so I am under no legal obligation to pay." And he has never heard from him since.

It is a curious thing this honor. Under certain conditions a man feels bound by it. He must be honest and truthful and upright. He must insist upon honesty and uprightness in others. Then he leaves a room or turns a corner, and the whole situation changes. He may lie or practice deceit or even steal, and a few think the worst of him and he not anything the worse of himself.

It is a false honor, this I have been describing. Real honor is based upon principle. It is the outgrowth of character. It is not influenced by time or situation or circumstance. It is a part of a man's everyday life; it controls and directs his action wherever he is, and it needs no oral or written expression to make it binding.

CHANGE OF OWNERSHIP

By THOMAS A. CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

J. C. Nevil having sold his interest in the Statesboro Ginnery to B. A. Aldred and retired from the business, notice is hereby given that Mr. Aldred will become actively associated with the business in the future.

Thanking our patrons for past patronage, we desire to remind them that we are prepared to grind their corn and beans on short notice, and that we carry on stock meal, grits and ground feed for sale. We also carry a good stock of staple and fancy groceries.

Thirst knows no season

Winter time or Summer time, you'll enjoy this beverage in your home.

That's why dealers are always ready to serve you through all twelve months in the year.

The distinctive bottle is the most sanitary package that can be made.

I know people who see no good in each other because they are constantly looking for evil; who turn every word and intonation and suggestive and unconscious act into something that is sinister and calculating. Each finds a subtle irritating double meaning at every word or suggestion that the other utters, and all because he is looking for it.

The opposite of this is true. There is a sort of unsophistication that does not see vulgarity or deceit or evil of any kind; that knows nothing of unfaithfulness, or dishonesty, or cause for depression and discouragement because it is not expecting them; it is not looking for them.

A young friend of mine had recently been with a crowd in which there had been considerable drinking. "I hope you were not too shocked by the drinking," I said to him. But he really had never seen it; he did not know about it; it had made no impression on him because his thoughts had been above it—he had not been looking for it.

The world in which we live is a very real world; it is full of pain and pleasure; of faithfulness and deceit; of truth and falsehood; of the sweet and the bitter; the real and the unreal; the beautiful and the ugly; but the reality is largely within us. We see what we're looking for.

SEEING WHAT YOU LOOK FOR

By THOMAS A. CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

I DON'T believe I ever found a four-leaved clover in my life, though I lived for years in the midst of clover fields. I knew a girl once who could reach down into any stray bunch of grass and pick out a half-dozen four-leaved clovers with unerring accuracy. I suppose the explanation is that she was looking for them and I was not. The same thing is true with reference to other experiences in life. The man who is looking for trouble finds it at every street corner and at every cross road. The sensitive soul who is watching out for slights and personal grievances is invariably run over by finding them at his elbow.

"You hurt my feelings by what you wrote the other day," an acquaintance said to me.

"How is that?" I asked.

"Because you used my follies as an illustration."

"But I did not," I replied. "I did not have the least idea that what I said would apply to you." She was simply looking for personal thrusts, and she found them.

A good deal of our unhappiness comes from grievances, or slights, or troubles, or disasters that we have looked for—that we have ferreted out and forced out of cover. If we had gone about cheerfully and happily we should have passed them by unobserved.

I know people who see no good in each other because they are constantly looking for evil; who turn every word and intonation and suggestive and unconscious act into something that is sinister and calculating. Each finds a subtle irritating double meaning at every word or suggestion that the other utters, and all because he is looking for it.

The opposite of this is true. There is a sort of unsophistication that does not see vulgarity or deceit or evil of any kind; that knows nothing of unfaithfulness, or dishonesty, or cause for depression and discouragement because it is not expecting them; it is not looking for them.

A young friend of mine had recently been with a crowd in which there had been considerable drinking. "I hope you were not too shocked by the drinking," I said to him. But he really had never seen it; he did not know about it; it had made no impression on him because his thoughts had been above it—he had not been looking for it.

The world in which we live is a very real world; it is full of pain and pleasure; of faithfulness and deceit; of truth and falsehood; of the sweet and the bitter; the real and the unreal; the beautiful and the ugly; but the reality is largely within us. We see what we're looking for.

SALE UNDER SECURITY DEED.

GEORGIA—Bulloch County.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in that certain deed to secure debt executed by Lula Jackson and R. J. McElmurry to W. S. Prestorius on the 28th day of April, 1923, and recorded in the office of the clerk of Bulloch superior court in record book No. 69, folio 241, the said W. S. Prestorius will sell a public sale before the court house door in said county, on the first Tuesday in July, 1924, during the legal hours of sale, to the highest bidder for cash, the following described property, to-wit:

(1) All that certain tract or parcel of land belonging to R. J. McElmurry, situated, lying and being in the 1209th G. M. district, Bulloch county, Georgia, and in the city of Statesboro, and bounded as follows: West by lands of B. Jones, north by lands of Mrs. H. S. Blitch, east by estate lands of J. W. Rountree, and south by Rountree street, and having a frontage on said street a distance of fifty feet, and running back therefrom between parallel lines a distance of one hundred twenty-eight feet, said tract of land being more particularly described as lot No. 5 upon that certain plat made for J. W. Rountree by J. E. Rushing, surveyor, in September, 1917.

(2) All that certain tract or parcel of land belonging to Lula Jackson, situated, lying and being in the 1209th G. M. district, Bulloch county, Georgia, and in the city of Statesboro, and fronting south on Church street in said city a distance of sixty-six feet, and running back northward therefrom between parallel lines to the lands of J. W. Rountree a distance of one hundred eighty-eight feet, and bounded north by estate lands of J. W. Rountree, east by lands of R. Butler, south by said Church street, and west by lands of Cecil W. Brannen, said property being the same upon which the said Lula Jackson now resides and conveyed to her by F. D. Pughley.

For the purpose of paying a certain promissory note bearing the date of April 28th, 1923, and payable on April 28th, 1924, made and executed by the said Lula Jackson and R. J. McElmurry, being for the principal sum of six hundred fifty ($650.00) dollars, together with interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum, the total amount now due and payable being $860.00, and the said note, together with the costs of this proceeding, a conveyance will be executed to the purchaser by the undersigned as authorized in the said deed to secure debt.

This June 8th, 1924.

W. S. PRESTORIUS.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Federal Aid Project No. 366 County of Bulloch.

Sealed proposals will be received by the county commissioners of road and road work, Bulloch County, Ga., until 12 o'clock noon, Eastern time, on the 15th day of June, 1924, for the furnishing of all labor, equipment, materials and other things necessary for the construction and maintenance of a box culvert and headwall on the Dixie Overland Highway, otherwise known as Federal Aid Project 366, Bulloch County.

The approximate quantities are as follows:

550.29 cubic yards class "A" concrete (culverts).

12.42 cubic yards reinforced steel, 42.32 cubic yards class "B" concrete (headwalls).

Said work shall begin within 15 days after award of the contract and the work to be completed in 90 work days.

Plans and specifications are on file at the office of the undersigned and the State Highway Department, East Point, Ga., where they may be inspected free of charge, or may be obtained upon payment of $2.00, which sum will not be refunded except to the successful bidder, who will be furnished a complete set of plans and specifications free of charge.

Said work shall be paid for as same progresses, to-wit:

Ninety per cent of the work done in any calendar month will be paid for between the 6th and 15th day of the succeeding month, and the remainder within 30 days of final completion and acceptance. Proposals must be submitted on regular forms which will be supplied by the undersigned and must be accompanied by a certified check for $600.00. Bidders bond will not be accepted. Bond will be required of the successful bidder as required by law. Right is reserved to delay the award of the contract for a period not to exceed 30 days from date of opening bids.

Right is reserved to reject any and all bids and to waive all formalities.

This the 3rd day of June, 1924.

C. C. DELOACH,
Chm. Commissioner Roads and Revenues, Bulloch County, Statesboro, Ga.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

A marriage of cordial interest was that of Miss Sara O'Neal and Mr. Arthur C. Turner, which occurred at the home of the bride's parents at Chibley, Ga., Sunday afternoon, June 9, at 4 o'clock. The bride, John C. White, of the First Baptist church, officiating.

The home was beautifully decorated in a profusion of pink, lavender and white flowers, while the improvised altar was banked with ferns and palms.

Two vocal selections were rendered, one by Miss Martha Crane, of Atlanta, who sang "At Dawning," and one by Mr. Charley Hill, of Chibley, who sang "Song of Love." They were accompanied on the violin by Miss Lillian Kimbrough with Miss Jane O'Neal at the piano.

The bride party entered the room to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march. During the ceremony "A Wild Rose" was played.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left on a wedding trip to points in North Carolina to be gone two weeks.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. O'Neal, of Chibley, Ga. She will be pleasantly remembered as at one time having taught school in this county. During the past year she has been a member of the faculty of the Chibley public school.

The groom is the son of Editor and Mrs. D. B. Turner and has resided in Statesboro all his life. He is in the employ of the local postoffice as an assistant postmaster.

CHAS. JONES PURCHASES FRESH GROCERY STORE

A business transaction of the past week was the purchase by Chas. Jones of the grocery store of Fresh & Company, of which he has already assumed possession. The Fresh store was opened last fall and carries a stock of choice groceries exclusively.

Mr. Jones has been operating a grocery store for some time in the building adjoining. An opening has been cut through the wall between the two stores and Mr. Jones will continue to operate both businesses.

Smart Blouse Vogue Approves Inset Vest

The latest blouse mode calls for the inset vest. In tailored models this "tuck-in vest" almost resembles the man's waistcoat, as far as the length and general cut is concerned. The picture illustrates also the clever use of novelty tucks for collar, cuffs and pocket.

JOLLY FRENCH KNOTTERS.

Mrs. D. C. Smith very delightfully entertained the Jolly French Knotters Club Thursday afternoon at her home on East Main street.

A profusion of gay colored garden flowers ornamented the room where the merry guests were entertained. After a very pleasant time spent in sewing and chatting the hostess served dainty refreshments.

FOR MISS BROWN.

The Eastern Star Chapter entertained for Miss Lucie Brown, a bride-elect of this month, Tuesday evening at the chapter hall, about seventy-five friends being invited.

The chapter room was filled with vases and baskets of lovely cut flowers.

Louise Addison, Mabel Perkins and Lemuel Jay gave several readings. Worthy matrons, Miss Irene Arden, painted a beautiful plate for the chapter, and worthy patron, Miss Pique, presented it to Miss Brown.

A delicious salad course was served. After this a wish from every one present was read, these being inscribed in a lovely hand painted wish book presented by the worthy matron.

WILLIAMS—BROWN.

A marriage of interest to a large circle of friends was that of Miss Trudie Williams and Mr. Finney Brown which was solemnized Sunday afternoon at the home of Judge and Mrs. E. D. Holland on Grady street, Judge Holland officiating.

The bride wore a model gown of crepe de chine and a becoming hat of white and was unattended.

REVIVAL TO BEGIN SUNDAY AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

A series of evangelistic services will begin at the Statesboro Methodist church next Sunday morning.

The pastor will be assisted by Dr. Charles Lane, of Macon. Dr. Lane will arrive in the city in time to preach Sunday morning and will preach twice each day for a period of from ten days to two weeks.

Many of the residents of Statesboro and Bulloch county will recall that Dr. Lane conducted a similar series of services here several years ago. He is a minister of ripe experience; a man of unusual intellectual attainments; an evangelist who has succeeded in leading many souls to Christ.

During the current year he has conducted several very successful revivals at Wesleyan College. He is a minister and lecturer with national reputation, and the people of this section have a rare treat in store, in his coming.

The public is invited and urged to attend these services. The hours of service will be 10 a. m. and 8 p. m., daily, except Sunday when the hours will be as usual. Good music will be a delightful feature of each service. Services will commence on time and will not be long.

Since Sunday morning will be the time for the regular revival, children's service, the service will be in charge of the children, and Dr. Lane will preach a sermon appropriate for the children.

ARE YOU NERVOUS?

Maybe There is a Cause For It That You Can Correct.

Many who suffer from backache and weak kidneys are unnaturally irritable, fretful and nervous. Not only does constant backache "get on the nerves," but bad kidneys fail to eliminate all the uric acid from the system, and uric acid irritates the nerves, keeping one "on edge" and causing rheumatism, neuralgia, pains.

When suffering so try Doan's Pills, the medicine so well recommended by Statesboro people. Read this Statesboro resident's statement:

D. B. Gould, 110 West Main street, says: "I had attacks of kidney complaint and always found Doan's Pills to be just the remedy I needed. I got down with miserable pains through the small of my back and I was in bad shape. My kidneys acted irregularly and I became so nervous I could say to pieces. Doan's Pills which I bought at the Ellis Drug Store rid me of the backache and returned my kidneys to normal. Doan's kept me enjoying good health."
